609 PERSONS HAVE CHESTS X-RAYED BY T.B. CLINIC

The provincial T. B. Clinic arrived on Thursday, September 28, according to schedule and remained until last Tuesday morning during which time they X-rayed the chests of 609 persons. The plates are all numbered for identification and when they are developed and examined in Edmonton if anything that the person should know about shows on the plate he or she is notified direct. The X-ray is the surest way of detecting T. B. symptoms and the Public Health Department is performing a wonderful service to the people of the province by sending this machine around the country manned by a competent staff. The machine and the trailer in which it is mounted was purchased by the Tuberculosis Division with money raised from the sale of T. B. seals at Christmas time.

ROBERT FAIR, M. P. NOMINATED SOCIAL CREDIT CANDIDATE FOR BATTLE RIVER

Local Committee To Assist Campaign

Robert Fair, M. P., has been re-nominated Social Credit candidate to contest the Federal Constituency of Battle River in the next Dominion election. Mr. Fair was declared the unanimous choice of a nominating convention held at Wainwright on August 5. A farmer in the Paradise Valley district for over 25 years, Mr. Fair was first elected member of Parliament in 1935 and was re-elected in 1940. During his nine years as member of the House, Mr. Fair has devoted a great deal of his time to advocating legislation which will improve conditions for Canadian agriculture. Also claiming much of Mr. Fair's attention has been the problem of Soldier Settlers.

Delegates at the nominating convention expressed their confidence in Mr. Fair and dealt with organization for the forthcoming Federal campaign. A local campaign committee was elected headed by Mr. J. A. Smith of Killisnoy.

Other members of the committee are: Mr. E. J. Russell, Chauvin; Mr. A. O. Aalborg, Rivercourse; Mr. M. Moncrieff, Paradise Valley; Mr. Wm. Wilkinson, Killisnoy; Mrs. C. E. Fenton, Irma; Mr. E. Beckman, Czar; Mr. C. F. Ewing, Mannville; and Mr. P. Pliska, Derwent.

Work of the campaign committee was launched at a meeting in Wainwright on Friday, September 22. Mr. Fair, Mr. Masson, M. L. A. for Wainwright; Mr. W. R. Cornish, M. L. A. for Vermilion; and Mr. S. A. Berg, M.L.A. for Alexandra, attended at the invitation of the committee. Plans drafted at the meeting call for the collection of a substantial campaign fund and the appointment of fifty organizers in community centres throughout the riding. The sponsoring of radio broadcasts by Mr. Fair and speakers on behalf of Mr. Fair will be undertaken.

Also considered were arrangements being made to hold a public meeting at Lloydminster with the Hon. Solon E. Low, Dominion Social Credit leader, as main speaker. It was hoped that this meeting could be held some time this fall.

Married 30 Years

REV. AND MRS. LONGMIRE THIRTY YEARS MARRIED

One of those very happy occasions was celebrated in Irma United Church, when members of the congregation and friends gathered to honor Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Longmire on the occasion of their 30th wedding anniversary.

It was a complete surprise to Rev. and Mrs. Longmire who had been invited to the home of Mrs. Arnold for dinner, and on being told their friend of long standing, Rev. A. D. Richards, of Wainwright wished to see them, returned to the church to find it filled with friends who ushered them in to the strains of the wedding march, and the singing of, "They are jolly good fellows." Mr. Richard made an able chairman for the program that followed, the first of which was the entrance of the honored couple's two daughters, Mrs. C. G. Carter and Miss Lois, with an arm bouquet of carnations and sweetheart roses for the bride of thirty years. The Ladies Choir opened the program with two old selections, "Long, Long Ago" and "Tum-ta-ta." Miss Alvina Sonoff gave a piano solo as did Miss Vera Simmermon, who also was pianist for all the singing. Miss Margery McFarland sang very feelingly as a solo, "Always" and little Pat Milne gave her sweet version of "I Love You Truly." She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Charlotte. A ladies' trio was keenly enjoyed. This was given by Mrs. R. McFarland, Mrs. J. Fletcher, and Mrs. H. Black, and the biggest surprise to the "bride and groom" was a very pretty duet sung by their two daughters, "A Musical Romance" conducted by Mrs. B. Long and Mrs. E. W. Carter, brought out a goodly chuckle. The Ladies Choir, who had sponsored the evening closed this part of the program by the singing of one of their outstanding anthems, "Heart Divine" and the King by all.

The church was nicely decorated with fall flowers, and Mr. Richard added much to the program with reminiscing and stories of days gone by. Following the program all were asked to repair to the basement for a delightful lunch and social hour. The room looked gay with white wedding bells and streamers. The bride's table laid in white and centred with a large two-tiered wedding cake so beautifully decorated by Miss Winnie Reeves. A real work of love was the miniature church complete in every detail made all in icing sugar. Vases of sweetpeas completed the decorations. The gift of sincere good wishes and appreciation was presented by Miss Winnie Reeves, who in a few well chosen words expressed the feeling of all both present and absent, and a more deep note of unity was expressed in the closing thought when all joined in singing, "Blest be the Tie that Binds, Our Hearts in Christian Love."

MARVIL RUNYON TAKES OVER BARBER SHOP AND BILLIARD HALL AT IRMA

(From the Viking News)

Marvil Runyon, returned veteran of World War II where he took part in the Italian and Sicily campaigns, has taken over the management of the Hedley barber shop and billiard hall at Irma. Marvil enlisted in the Edmonton Loyal Regiment in 1939 and was overseas by Christmas of that year. He was wounded at Ortona on December 23rd, 1943, and was invalided home on April 15th, 1944, having spent four years and four months with the Canadian forces. He suffered leg and foot wounds.

Mr. Stone, an experienced barber from Edmonton, will have charge of the tonsorial department of the business. Mr. Ben Runyon of Viking, has been in Irma this week since Monday when the transfer was made. We join in wishing Marvil success in his rehabilitation at Irma.

ABOUT THE THINGS YOU BUY IN WARTIME

The sugar situation is NOT sweet

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE SUGAR CANADA CONSUMES HAS TO BE IMPORTED

This map shows where Canada, Great Britain and the United States got their sugar in the good old days of peace. Our three countries take practically all the exportable sugar from these major sugar-exporting areas.

But supplies have either been cut off by enemy occupation of the country—as in the case of Java and the Philippines, or their production radically reduced by shortage of workers, as in the case of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Australia, Trinidad, Fiji.

ROLLING ON SUGAR

The war has brought some unusual demands on the United Nations' sugar pool. Vast quantities have been taken for making industrial alcohol used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber (tires, etc.) as well as T.N.T. and smokeless powder. For instance, the explosive to fill five 16-inch shells requires as much sugar as is produced on an acre of the finest sugar land. This year Cuban sugar alone used for making industrial alcohol will equal Canada's normal sugar imports for more than two years.

DO WE NEED MORE SUGAR?

A century ago the whole world didn't consume as much sugar as Canada does today. Our sweet tooth has been acquired in quite recent times. Sugar rates high for its energy value, but starchy food is a good substitute.

THE SUPPLY IS SHARED

All sugar supplies are pooled and under the control of the Combined Food Board of the United Nations, which allocates supplies to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform basis.

WE'RE LIVING ON OUR SUGAR CAPITAL

At the time of "Pearl Harbour" the United Nations had a reserve stockpile of about 3 million tons, but for the last 3 years we've been using more than has been produced—and dipping heavily into "reserves." Liberated nations will have to dip in too. Extra good crops could improve the situation, but greatly increased supplies are not in sight. If current consumption keeps up, we could be very short of sugar next year. We must do the utmost to conserve our supplies.

RATIONING WAS STARTED BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE OF SHIPS. IT MUST BE CONTINUED BECAUSE FOOD STOCKS ARE DEFICIENT

Research In Canada

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH HAS BEEN the means of opening many new possibilities to men; and has had far reaching effects upon the course of history. Its importance is accentuated in modern warfare, when scientists are called upon not only to create new materials, but also to devise methods of dealing with the destructive forces of the enemy. While its role in wartime is often dramatic, the peacetime value of research is equally vital, and its contributions to civilian life are in many cases of greater and more lasting value. In recent years there have been interesting and important developments in the field of science, and the greater part of these are eventually adapted to serve for the good of all mankind.

Valuable Work Is Done Here

Most enlightened countries have, for many years, recognized the importance of research to general progress, and have encouraged their scientists to work in the interests of national development. Canada has organized this work through the National Research Council, with headquarters at Ottawa, and much valuable research has been done by that body on scientific problems of particular importance here. Canada is as yet a young nation, and the potentialities of her industries are still very great. There are undoubtedly many possibilities for the development of further uses of farm crops, and of the waste products from farms and industries, and it would be to the public interest to see that every encouragement is given to work of this kind.

Figures Show Small Outlay

At a recent meeting of the Canadian Institute of Public Relations, R. W. Boyle, chief of the Physics Division of the National Research Council, told the members of the Institute that Canada spends considerably less than Russia, Great Britain or the United States, on scientific research. Giving the per capita figures of the expenditures for these purposes in the countries mentioned, Mr. Boyle stated that in Russia the outlay is about $2.40; in the United States $1.80; in Britain 80 cents, while in Canada only 29 cents per capita per year is devoted to this purpose. Canadian universities provide facilities for excellent scientific training, and there is no lack of well-qualified research men in the Dominion. It is apparent that we are far behind in the provision which we make for this important work, and an improvement along these lines could well be included in our plans for post-war development.

Time Magazine Gives Space To Praise Of Canadian 1st Army

The 1st Canadian Army drew 5% columns of praise in a recent edition of Time magazine and the commander, Lt.-Gen. Crerar, entered the niche Time reserves for the select few when a steel-helmeted head-and-shoulders picture of him appeared on the front page.

Time told of the Canadians' return to Dieppe, scene of the bloody Aug. 19, 1942, raid, the mopping-up of the robot bomb coast of France and of the Canadian victories at Caen and Falaise "where, in General Eisenhower's words, 'every piece of dust replete with diamonds and every foot of ground was worth 10 miles elsewhere'."

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, said something at a luncheon honoring Rene Massigli, French Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, recently, that should be kept before every Canadian: "It's not too much to say that the fate of Europe depends in a large measure on how far you and we can work together. We need vision to see, faith to act and courage to persevere."

The British minister of health has "white list" on which are recorded the towns which have no slum areas. There are 33 towns on the list at present.

Canadian Troops In Italy Know What Inflation Will Do

"See Naples and die" is an old saying. Although hundreds of Allied soldiers have seen Naples and are very much alive, a lot of them thought that they would pass out at the prices they had to pay for ordinary commodities.

The glare of Italy's sun is very hard on western eyes, yet soldiers were charged $5.00 to $9.00 for sun glasses that would cost a few cents at home. Two soldiers who were doing the town one day had to pay the following prices: two eggs 70 cents; bread 10 cents a slice; beef one dollar a portion; potatoes 30 cents; spaghetti 50 cents and so on. One man had a snack consisting of two eggs, chips, bread and red wine which cost him $1.70 and to add insult to injury, the soldier from Texas swore that his beef was "plain army mule."

Before the Nazis left, able bodied men were afraid to appear on the streets for fear of being deported to slave labour in Germany. Without any earnings their families had to live on meagre rations, and high prices put most foods quite out of their reach.

Price control is a sort of fence around the everyday business of buying and selling goods. As long as the fence holds strong, prices remain stable, a dollar buys a dollar's worth of tomatoes, street car tickets, telephone calls, stockings. But let one slat of the fence be broken and through the resulting hole stability could escape. Prices would skyrocket. Right here in Canada this could happen. So make it one of your personal war assignments to see that this doesn't happen. Keep an eye on prices in your community... watch your own spending and saving too... that's what you're responsible for... your own community!—By Edna Jacques.

Demand For Salt

Production In Canada Reached New High Record Last Year

Recent figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that the production of sodium chloride or common salt in Canada reached a record high during 1943 in both quantity and value of output. Six hundred and eighty-seven thousand, six hundred and eighty-eight short tons were produced, valued at $4,379,378.

The market for salt in the Dominion is steadily increasing. Domestic production is sold principally to the dairy, meat curing and canning industries; fisheries; chemical industries; as table salt and to highway and transport departments for use as soil stabilizers.

The use of salt in soil stabilization for the foundation of highways and for a surface veneer for gravel roads has shown a marked increase in recent years. It has been used extensively also in the soil-stabilized bases for runways at Canadian airfields. Sand, piled each fall along main highways, remains loose and free-flowing even in the coldest weather when mixed with salt, thus allowing easy distribution on icy roadways.

Q—My home is under construction but as yet I have not obtained the hot air furnace for it. What procedure should I take to purchase one?

A—Certificates of essentiality for hot air furnaces will be available to owners of new homes having a permit from the controller of construction and providing the home is under construction. These essentiality certificates may be obtained at the nearest local or regional office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board office.

Q—I have just moved into a house which has never been rented before. Although I agreed to pay my landlord the rent he asked, I understand that within a month from the date I moved in he must have the rent approved by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. How will I know that the rent I am being charged has been approved by the Prices Board?

A—The rental office of the Prices Board will send you a copy of the decision it has made regarding the rent you are being charged. It is called a maximum rent decision, and it will show the rent that has been approved for your accommodation.

Q—I understand I can get a voucher for buying honey by mail. What is the procedure?

A—Go to your local ration board, take your ration book with you, and depending on the amount of honey you want to buy, you will be issued a purchase voucher in exchange for the right number of coupons. Each purchase voucher is worth eight pounds of honey, which means four preserves coupons will be needed for each purchase voucher.

Q—Are permits for small arms ammunition still available?

A—Yes, and will be until September 30.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book (The book which you keep track of your ceiling prices) mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

ITALY—

There is never a dull moment in the life of the CWACs stationed with the Canadian Army Show in Italy. Every day brings a horde of new and rich experiences. One of the saddest experiences of one group of girls was a brief engagement with an army laundry unit, from which both sides retired in utter confusion. The laundry boys, eager to please, volunteered to look after the unfamiliar items of CWAC tropical dress. The uniforms were returned fresh and clean. The girls were waiting to make an appearance in them, but when they went in to change, they found their garments to a point where the skirts and slacks would not cover the areas prescribed under C.W.A.C. dress regulations.

Personality

Time is usually a luxury, but not always as energetic as Pte. Sue Lenky's clock would seem to indicate. Of course, Pte. Lenky, whose home is at Edenbridge, Sask., has really a very special kind of clock, and not the least amazing thing about it is that it suits her Army job perfectly. Pte. Sue is employed at Prince Albert, Sask. On the face of the clock is pictured the figure of a young girl and kneeling before her is a little boot black. With every tick of the clock, the boot black gives the girl's shoes a brush. Pte. Lenky finds that her clock serves as a reminder to her own duties. She has been a member of the C.W.A.C. for more than a year.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS—

The recent order that members of the C.W.A.C. may wear civilian clothing while on 48-hour passes, has resulted in many confusing and embarrassing moments for the girls. At a formal reception in Vancouver, B.C., recently, Lt.-Col. Borne, Mayor of Victoria, was highly embarrassed to find herself entering a room filled with guests and snatching off a veiled and beflowered chapeau in lieu of her usual khaki cap. Regimental habit, too, has caused many a dignified male officer to be left standing on the street in bewilderment as a fashionably dressed young woman passed by and whipped up a smart salute.

Ottawa Workshop Provides Photographic Lenses For R.A.F.

Some of the photographic lenses used in sweeps by the Royal Air Force originate in the workshop of the National Research Council, Ottawa.

Lenses up to six inches in diameter, suitable for taking pictures from heights of 20,000 to 30,000 feet, are manufactured in the laboratory. The amount of work that goes into one of these is unbelievable. A lens arrives at the laboratory as a number of blank pieces of optical glass. It leaves as a lens accurate to within one one-hundred-thousandth part of an inch. Between the raw state and the finished product there's grinding, polishing and calibrating work of amazing precision.

Curves must be perfect to within a millionth of an inch, since any departure from a true sphere would cause blurring of the picture taken from heights at which reconnaissance planes usually fly.

For Surgical Sutures

Manufacturer Says Kangaroo Tendons Have Slow Absorption Rate

When you had your last operation, the incision may have been sown up with the tendon of a kangaroo.

Kangaroo tendons were useful as surgical sutures because they had a slow absorption rate, said W. M. Thomas, western representative of Davis & Geck, manufacturers of surgical sutures. "Other materials used to sew up wounds are silver wire, silk, linen, cotton, gut and nylon," said Mr. Thomas. Sun glass was thought of for the purpose, but it proved unsatisfactory.

The war has seen a tremendous advance in surgery and the use of sutures, continued Mr. Thomas, whose home is in Alameda, California, and who is travelling through Canada on a business trip. Unlike other industries, that of producing sutures has not suffered from a shortage of materials. "We have a high priority rating, and can get what materials we need," said Mr. Thomas. "It has not been too difficult for us to meet the demand."

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Birds Of Prey

By KATHRYN M. KEELEY

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Young Mrs. Carroll dumped the green cooking apples she had just brought from the corner grocery into the sink and splashed water on them preparatory to making a pie. It was nearly eleven o'clock, and soon Mrs. Murphy, her neighbor, would squeeze through the barren hawthorn bushes for her morning call. Mrs. Murphy considered her an oracle on love and life, marriage and babies, and she had taken Ellen Carroll under her protective wing from the time Ellen was a bride. Not that Ellen minded, for Mrs. Murphy was a good cook, and she dropped many a valuable hint. In two years Jim Carroll had waxed broad and genial from just such hints.

Mrs. Murphy slammed the kitchen door with a resounding bang, her face red from the icy wind. "Did you remember to bring the meat?" she panted, her voice still holding its County Cork brogue after all these years.

Ellen bent to pull off her friends' smelly rubbers. "Sure," she mimicked, "I forgot all about it. An' what will ye be wantin' meat for?" Mrs. Murphy smiled down at the reddish brown head fondly. "To feed the birds, to be sure."

Ellen sobered but said lightly, "I thought maybe you meant it for us. I thought you'd heard the machine shop is going out on a strike. I'll take a long while to get it settled, Jim says."

Mrs. Murphy clucked sympathetically. "Too bad, too bad. Not much saved, dearie?"

"A little. But not enough for a long stretch."

Ellen sieved flour into a yellow bowl. Mrs. Murphy watching with mute approval. Not until the shortening was blended into little flakes did she say earnestly, "You could have more, Ellen, if you weren't feedin' all the tramps in the city."

Ellen's eyes grew round with astonishment. "But they're hungry. I never give them money. It's like you and your birds. I just give them crumbs."

"Birds?" Mrs. Murphy snorted. "Birds of prey, they are. Some day I'll come here to find your head bashed in from one of those birds of yours. It's in the papers every day."

Involuntarily, Ellen shuddered. "I just put hot soup and sandwiches on the step." And then slowly, "It sort of destroys your faith in human nature if you cannot share what little you have."

"Well, I'm warnin' you," Mrs. Murphy roared abruptly. "I must be goin'. Big John will be home to lunch. . . Don't forget to sprinkle some milk on the top crust to make it brown."

Afterward, Ellen pored the apples thoughtfully. How long would the strike last? Just when they were getting on their feet too. The first payment on this white clapboard bungalow had been made. She and Jim had budgeted so carefully. Tears blurred her eyes. She shook them furiously away.

The pie was completed when the front door bell rang. That might be

Jim now, if a strike were called. Ellen wiped her floury hands on her blue checked pinafore uneasily. The bell was a shrill siren of urgency. It wasn't Jim. Through the shimmering rayon curtains, Ellen had a good view of the insistent visitor. Shabbily dressed, his nondescript cap pushed far back on his head, the little man kept his finger on the push button. A tramp! A bum demanding to be fed! Of all the nerve!

"Let him ring," Ellen thought, remembering Mrs. Murphy's warning with quick apprehension. If he'd only go away! But he didn't. The bell clamored intermittently, while Ellen peered fearfully through the curtains.

At last he sat on the icy steps, hugging himself against the blasts of wind that rattled the door. Ellen felt a sharp stab of pity, but it dissolved in her mounting fright. What was he waiting for? There was something familiar about him. That was Jim's old overcoat, he was wearing. Ellen recalled the fellow now, remembered the bleary eyes, the alcohol breath as he told her last year, "Ye'm, my wife and baby was swept right away in the flood. No'm, they was never found, an' I've been goin' around from town to town thinkin' maybe they've been rescued somewhere and couldn't get back home."

Ellen had believed him. She had given him the coat, food, some money to continue his search. For a little while she had carried his tragedy in her heart, praying that he might find his loved ones somewhere. Now she knew. Now she was a fool to believe. He was back with a different hard luck story probably. And if he kept pushing that bell, she'd call the police.

Ellen returned to the kitchen slowly, a strange heaviness within her heart. You couldn't believe anything or anybody. All those poor souls she had helped had no doubt laughed at her, passed the word through their grapevine that the little woman at 212 Elm Street was a sucker for sob stuff. Mrs. Murphy was right. Birds of prey!

The bell rang again. Two discouraged buzzes. Ellen slid the pie into the oven, wiping the dough from the table-top, wondering if the man were really hungry. He looked so cold.

There was a knock at the back door. For an instant, Ellen's blood chilled. But Mrs. Murphy's familiar "yoo-hoo" set her heart to beating again. Mrs. Murphy burst in, exclaiming excitedly, "Ellen, dearie, do you know what you've done?" She paused dramatically while Ellen shook her head in bewilderment. "Left your key stickin' right in the lock of your front door. Anyone could walk right in and murder you! One of your birds came and told Big John. He rang and rang, he said. He was afraid to go off and leave it there. You mustn't be so careless, Ellen."

A great weight was sliding off Ellen's shoulders. She felt suddenly gay, light-hearted. "One of my birds," she said tenderly. "I wonder where he is."

Mrs. Murphy bristled with importance. "Over eatin' a good hot lunch with Big John. You can't turn down a man like that. Do you know he lost a wife and baby in the flood, poor soul?"

"Yes, I know," Ellen replied in a queer choked voice.

RELIED ON CLOCK

The old saw about your stomach telling you when meal time rolls around doesn't apply to a Buckley Field private. The soldier rushed to the chow line, but was informed by a sergeant that he had been looking at a clock in the War Information room, which gave Eastern War Time instead of Mountain War Time.

In some bird species the young and adults migrate at different times. How the young know what route to take is one of nature's great mysteries.

Damage Was Slight

Paris Suffered Much Less Than London From Air Bombing

More fortunate than London, the city of Paris was spared the fate of heavy damage from the air. British, Canadian and United States bombers have flown over and around it hundreds of times but held their blows for military targets.

Bomb damage was confined almost entirely to the suburban industrial districts at a minimum cost to civilians. The big railroad yards, airfields and the vast Renault Motor Works and its subsidiary plants were the scenes of greatest destruction.

Two of the best examples of the devastation caused by the Allied bombers—an indication of how large sections of Germany must now look—are the Renault works on the mammoth Villeneuve-St. Georges southwestern edge of Paris and the freight yards outside Vincennes.

The Renault factory is a mass of wrecked and burned out buildings and twisted steel.

A Paris newspaper said the bombing never caused the plant to shut down completely, but "obviously slowed production greatly."

"It usually was thrown out of gear for two or three days after each big raid," he declared.

Thousands of wrecked railway cars are scattered over the Villeneuve-St. Georges yards, through which the Germans had to move vast quantities of material. One area three-quarters of a mile square is almost a solid mass of crumpled cars and locomotives and twisted rails.

The heart of Paris around the Eiffel Tower was never touched. Few if any of the historic buildings suffered any damage.

Book Of Remembrance

Commemorates Work Of Canadian Engineers Killed In Last War

Grace Melvin, well-known Vancouver artist, has completed a Book of Remembrance for the Military Engineers' Association of Canada, which will shortly be sent to Ottawa and eventually will find its place in St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

The beautifully bound and illustrated volume contains the names of the 2,604 Canadian engineers who fell in the First Great War.

For more than two years Miss Melvin, head of the department of design at the Vancouver Art School, has devoted her leisure time to working on the designing, lettering and illuminating of the book. Bound in red English morocco the 40-page volume measures 19 by 14 inches. On the front cover a large cross is modelled in relief with lettering and an intricate badge stamped in gold on the red leather.

Miss Melvin, who specializes in illumination design and lettering, was designer of the handsome illuminated address presented by the city of Vancouver to King George and Queen Elizabeth when they visited Vancouver in 1939.

The Book of Remembrance will be placed in a niche in St. Paul's Cathedral specially reserved for the Dominion. It will be one of the duties of the custodian of the Cathedral chapel to exhibit the volume to relatives of those whose names appear in it.

Has Proved Success

Combined Immunization Against Whooping Cough And Diphtheria Is Advised

Studies show that infants can be immunized successfully against diphtheria and whooping cough at the same time. The Health League of Canada reported, quoting an article by three Illinois investigators in The Journal of the American Medical Association.

"Because diphtheria and whooping cough are most prevalent and serious in the first years of life, it seemed logical that immunization against the two diseases should be attempted at the same time," the investigators are quoted. The report is based on injections given 649 infants averaging eight months in age. Three doses were given each child. Three-week intervals between doses yielded a higher percentage of immunity response than dosage one week apart. Ninety-seven per cent. of the children on the three-week-interval dosage tested immune to diphtheria and 72 per cent. had high immunity tests for whooping cough. After a stimulating dose of pertussis vaccine, the whooping cough percentage rose to 95. Reactions were transient and usually mild.

The three investigators said that "No infant so injected during the past five years . . . is known to have contracted either diseases."

Telegraph and telephone wires strung along highways average 208 pounds per mile.

Becoming Well Known

Maple Leaf Suggested As Mark For Canadian Made Goods

Canada's flag—the Red Ensign with the Dominion's coat of arms—has become known among the nations but the Maple Leaf design probably will be the banner under which trade will march to the corners of the world.

Officials say there is general agreement that the maple leaf means Canada when it appears on a truck, a tin of salmon or any other product in distant places. One suggestion is that all export goods leaving Canada should bear the Maple Leaf in addition to the trade mark and label of the manufacturer.

Goods sent out under the mutual aid program bear markings showing they are from Canada and the same may be done with supplies provided for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration.

The Maple Leaf on a plow provided under mutual aid for U.N.R.R.A. will, if the plow is a good one, remind even an operator who cannot read that he should buy equipment bearing the same emblem when he can begin purchasing his own supplies after the war.

Unless there is some simple universal emblem for Canada and the goods she supplies, officials think that any advertising which might be obtained from the contribution to world reconstruction will be of little value.

When Children Die

In Many Cases Negligence Of Parents Is The Cause

The tragic death of children in an English community when a military airplane crashed in their midst aroused widespread pity and sympathy. Ironically, nothing has been said about some 240 children in England and Wales who were choked to death by diphtheria in four weeks ending April 29 last—or the hundreds of other British children who have fallen victims to preventable diseases this year. Are our tears to be confined to those children who die dramatically?

According to statistical reports, there were 2,420 cases of diphtheria in England and Wales during the four weeks mentioned. About 10 per cent. of diphtheria cases today are fatal. Many of the patients who recover suffer serious complications.

Thus, like falling aircraft or enemy missiles, infectious diseases take their toll in dead and maimed. The difference is this: All the valor and skill of the armed forces, and all that parents can do, cannot protect all children against the violence of war or accidents associated with warfare. But loving parents can and should protect their little ones against preventable diseases for which simple, safe immunization procedures are available.

Our tears for the little children who died and were maimed in the crash of the airplane cannot bring them back. But we can protect children against diseases which kill and maim just as surely as violent accidents associated with war. This applies in Canada as well as in the British Isles.

Extended To Civilians

Postmaster-General Mulock has announced that special air letter facilities thus far available only for the forces through use of the armed services blue air letter will be extended to civilians, effective Sept. 11.

Under the new arrangement, civilian air letters may be sent to many commonwealth countries at a special rate of 10 cents.

Col. Mulock said the arrangement "may well mark the commencement of a new idea in civilian trans-oceanic air mail communication."

BAKED SQUASH WITH MEAT LOAF

Cut 2 lbs. Hubbard squash in half; remove seeds; brush with Mazola. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Remove from oven and pack in the following meat mixture. Return to oven and continue baking till meat loaf is cooked.

1 lb. smoked ham, or cottage roll
1 1/2 lbs. fresh pork, uncooked
1 egg
1 cup cracker crumbs
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon corn syrup
Run meat through coarse knife of food chopper; add unbeaten egg, cracker crumbs, pepper, mustard and corn syrup. Shape into a ball and place firmly into squash. Bake in moderate oven. Serves 8.

A quick and easy dessert can be made by placing a layer of graham cracker crumbs in the bottom of custard cups or small sauce dishes, then a layer of applesauce, and another layer of crumbs. CANADA'S VETERANS Their Post-War Opportunities

The Future After Discharge — A MESSAGE TO RELATIVES OF THOSE IN THE ARMED FORCES

When your boys and your girls come home, when they lay aside the uniform, when they go out into the world as normal peace-loving Canadians, what lies ahead? Can they pick up their lives as civilians, where they laid them down, months or long years ago? Are there plans to help them do the things they wanted to do before the war? Will they have security? Can they continue education, or receive needed training? Will they be assisted in home owning, or to establish their own business, and will they be enabled to pick up their family life once again?

These are questions which concern all those Canadians who have loved ones in the services. They are questions which this series of advertisements is designed to answer.

OPPORTUNITY IS THE OBJECTIVE

Canada has been making plans for your boy's and your girl's return to civilian life since early in 1940. These plans are in effect and operating now. The aim is that every person who has served shall have opportunity. Thousands, already back in civilian life, have benefited by training, by maintenance grants, by advice of departmental officials, and by the social security provisions. There is ample help for those men and women who want to help themselves.

ASSISTANCE ON DISCHARGE

When your boys and girls are discharged from the services, they will be given:

1. A clothing allowance of $100.00 (if discharged after August 1, 1944).
2. Their pay to date of discharge.
3. One month's additional pay, if they have 183 days' continuous service, as a rehabilitation grant.
4. A railway warrant home or to the place of enlistment.

Dependents will receive:

1. Their normal dependents' allowance to date of discharge, with assigned pay.
2. An additional month's dependents' allowance, with assigned pay, if there has been 183 days' continuous service.

Your boy or girl will be allowed to retain certain items of uniform. They will be given a complete medical and dental examination and will be eligible for free needed treatment for a year after discharge. Those discharged not physically fit, in need of continuing treatment and unable to work, will have their pay and allowances of rank continued for at least a year if necessary and, if the disability is pensionable, for as long as curative treatment is beneficial. All are interviewed by Veterans' Welfare Officers and told of the re-establishment programme.

WAR SERVICE GRATUITY

On discharge, those enlisted to serve outside Canada, or those who served in the Aleutian Islands, are eligible for a war service gratuity. It provides $7.50 for each thirty days' service in Canada and the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas or in the Aleutian Islands. For those with overseas service or with service in the Aleutian Islands, there is an additional seven days' pay and allowances for each six months of such service. Payments will be made at the end of each month in the months following discharge. Complete details of the war service gratuity will be given in a later advertisement.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

In addition to the war service gratuity, there is a re-establishment credit of $7.50 for each thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas. This is for things such as the purchase or repair of a home, the buying of furniture, a business, or government life insurance, and for certain other purposes which will assist your boy or your girl in becoming re-established. This credit, which is reduced by grants given for training or education, or under the Veterans' Land Act, is primarily for those who do not wish assistance under these three plans.

RETURN TO FORMER JOBS

If your boy or girl held a civilian position before enlisting, and was not engaged to replace somebody already in the forces, and if the position still exists, and your boy or girl is capable of filling it, it is the employer's duty, under the law of Canada, to reinstate him or her in that position with seniority. Application for reinstatement must be made to the former employer within three months of discharge from the forces or from hospital.

Veterans' Welfare Officers are stationed in key centres throughout Canada. They are the friends of Ex-Service men and women. It is their duty to advise and assist all Ex-Service personnel with their re-establishment problems. If there is anything about the Rehabilitation programme which you do not understand, consult your nearest Veterans' Welfare Officer.

TRAINING AND EDUCATION

The surest way to permanent employment—the thing your boy or girl will want—is a skill to get and to hold a job. Canada's plans give opportunity to acquire needed skill either at university or in preparation for a business or industrial career. Fees are paid by the state, along with living allowances, while training or continuing education.

WHILE ILL OR UNEMPLOYED

There is protection against illness or unemployment by maintenance allowances which can be drawn against in the first eighteen months after discharge. There is also protection under the Unemployment Insurance Act for those who enter insured employment and remain in it fifteen weeks.

HOME OWNING AND FARMING

There is provision to assist city and other workers to have homes of their own, either on small acreages of land outside the high taxation area, or in town, under the National Housing Act. Full-time farmers can be given financial assistance in full-time farming, while commercial fishermen may secure financial help in getting their own homes, on small acreages of land, and in buying needed fishing equipment.

FREE TREATMENT

In the year following discharge, service men and women are eligible for free treatment, hospitalization and allowances for any condition, even if not the result of service. Pensioners are entitled to this for life for their pensioned disability.

THE POLICY ON PENSIONS

Canada's Pension Act is administered by an independent commission, all former members of the services. Any permanent disability suffered overseas, not a result of misconduct, is pensionable. Where service is in Canada only, the disability must be a result of service.

BANK OF MONTREAL BUSINESS SUMMARY

In the current Business Summary issued by the Bank of Montreal, it has this to say of business conditions in the Prairie Provinces—Wholesale and retail trade continues brisk, with sales volume generally higher than that of a year ago. Groceries, meats, fresh fruits and vegetables are moving in good volume. Men's and women's wearing apparel, footwear and drygoods are in good demand. The hardware trade is busy. Shortages continue in electrical household supplies and choice in furniture and rugs and carpet lines is limited. Country trade is being well maintained and the volume of business exceeds that of a year ago. Purchases are mostly on a cash basis and collections are good. Implement dealers are busy and the demand for farm machinery exceeds the supply. Industrial activity continues on a good scale. The building trades are being kept busy. Packing plants are operating at capacity. Harvesting is making good progress in Alberta and Saskatchewan, but late rains have delayed operations at many points. Wheat delivery quotas of 10 bus. per authorized acre are now in effect at 57 percent of the 2,092 points in the three provinces. The run of cattle has been fairly liberal, but there has been little improvement in the quality offered. Hog prices have remained steady.

Thrift....

IS PRACTICAL PATRIOTISM

How many ways can you saveto LEND TO CANADA?

In the homes, all over Canada, loyal, patriotic women are discovering new ways to economize... new ways to save money to lend to their country. A little saved here and a little saved there provides money to lend to Canada to help pay for the war. Small sums from millions of Canadians mount to billions when totaled up.

The amount that you may lend to your country may seem a small sum to you, but pennies make dimes and dimes make dollars, and Canada needs every single dollar that every Canadian can save and lend. Canada's need for borrowing is greater now than ever before. Every Canadian must lend, and lend more than before. Money you save and invest in Victory Bonds will benefit you in a personal way, too. You will have cash, when the war is over, to buy things you want for your home... things you are doing without now... cash to pay on a new home... to pay on a new car.

THE CANADA YEAR BOOK

The 1943-44 edition of the Canada Year Book, published by authorization of the Hon. James A. McKinnon, M. P., Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. On grounds of war-time economy, the 1943 edition of the Year Book was not published and the present volume has therefore been planned to cover development over a two-year period, perhaps more important from the standpoint of the changes in our internal economy than any other like period in the Dominion's history. The problem of including all necessary new material and at the same time keeping the volume down to convenient limits has not been an easy one to solve and, wherever possible, space has been saved by reference to earlier editions for standard material. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic conditions of the Dominion. By a special concession, a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona fide students and school teachers, who may obtain such copies at the nominal price of $1.00 each. Application with remittance for these special copies must be forwarded to the Dominion Statistician, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

NEW RATION BOOKS TO BE DISTRIBUTED OCT. 14-21

Ration Book 5 to be distributed during the week October 14 to 21 will cover 50 weeks instead of the former 32 owing to the stable picture of the supply situation which has been obtained for the first time since the war began.

An explanatory pamphlet, per family, to be issued simultaneously will provide consumers with a summary of the supply situation in sugar, butter and preserves.

Ration Book 5, similar in size to previous books, will contain 25 coupons on each of its 11 pages as against 16 previously. There are no tea-coffee or meat coupons but seven sheets of spare coupons and a surrender card should take care of any emergency.

Distribution of the new pink-covered ration book is again undertaken by volunteer workers. Every applicant must complete the stub of "K" coupon sheet in ration book 4, filling in name, address and ration book prefix letters and serial number. The "K" coupon sheet must not be detached but the whole book taken to the distributing centre where it will be returned upon issue of the new book. Dates of distribution during this particular week will be announced later.

generous relief for the people of Rome and Italy.

The Food Research Institute of California tells us that in general the agricultural situation in Europe is far better than most people suppose. The main trouble, says this authority, is not so much the depletion of livestock herds, as it is that animals have been poorly fed and that, therefore, production of these animals has been low. Fats and dried milk will apparently be the chief need in most parts of Europe, but in certain large areas relief wheat and flour it is expected, will be required for some time.

How fortunate it is that Canada and the United States have available surpluses of agricultural products which can be sent to all these suffering European people.

The Danger Of Inflation

OF THE MANY EVILS which result from war, inflation is one of those which is most injurious to the welfare of a nation. The unusual economic conditions created by war tend to set up that dangerous spiral of rising prices and wages which ultimately ends in complete financial disaster. Almost every country, including Canada, suffered from inflation during the last war, and the lessons learned then have resulted in widespread efforts to avoid this condition again. In Canada, Britain, and the United States, measures have been taken to control prices and wages and to prevent unwarranted increases in either of these items.

Public Support Has Been Given

Great difficulties stand in the way of exercising such extensive control, and all the nations which have undertaken such schemes have not met with complete success. They have, however, maintained much greater economic stability than those nations which did not attempt to control the situation. In Canada, the public has been aware, since the beginning of the war, of the dangers of inflation, and there has been splendid co-operation on the part of the people in avoiding this danger. For some time now, there has been an extensive system of government control, aimed at preventing inflation, but it is agreed that the interest and support of the public has been a most important factor in the success of that effort here.

People Must Be Patient

Many of the controls which have been enforced in order to ensure economic stability are, of necessity, unpleasant, and as world conditions generally become more normal, there is a tendency on the part of many people to believe that it should no longer be necessary to continue these restrictions. It must be kept in mind, however, that the immediate post-war years may be as critical, in many ways, as the past five years have been, and that it is useless for anyone to expect a quick return to normal conditions. Patience will be needed, on the part of the public in respect to spending their war savings, and to the lifting of some of the present restrictions, and the average Canadian will no doubt continue to see the wisdom of continued caution in these matters.

Will Need Horses

Canada Will Play Large Part In Supplying Europe

Canadian breeding stock may play a large part in re-building the live-stock herds of Europe when the war is over. Particularly in the restoration of farm power, the horse will be required, and some idea of the coming demand for horses may be gained from the estimates of the declining numbers of horses in the various countries since the war began. It is estimated that the numbers of horses in Britain, Holland, and Belgium have been reduced by half, in Russia by one-third, and that only one-third of the original numbers of horses has been left in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and Greece. Germany, by plundering the other nations, is believed to have as many horses, if not more, than when the war began. However, say the authorities, the task of supplying farm power to help in the restoration of agriculture in the devastated countries is going to be a tremendous one and is expected to result in a strong demand for Canadian horses for some time to come.

There are 5,118 Smiths in the Canadian Army. Three hundred and sixty-two of these are William Smiths, of whom 44 come from Toronto. The Browns number 5,071, while the Joneses are only 1,692. It should be no difficulty for the Smiths and the Browns to keep up with the Joneses in this case.

Looking For Markets

China's Tea Trade Will Likely Revive After The War

The Chinese News Service says tea experts are looking forward optimistically to the revival of China's tea trade after the war.

China has wide tea-producing areas and the production of tea has not been severely hit by the war.

They believe that Chinese tea will enjoy a booming market three or four years after the war when China's seaports are reopened.

All Dressed Up With Plenty To Do

This is Lance Corporal Jacqueline (Butch) Irvine, of Rouleau, Sask., member of the Canadian Women's Army Corps. "I love driving, especially tractors, but you can't work on a tractor with this new outfit, so I'll settle for my half-ton truck," said the Corporal as she posed for this picture in the new outfit issued to C.W.A.C. vehicle drivers. Jacqueline drives a panel truck for the Army. Dressed in the regulation khaki shirt and brown tie, the familiar cap styled after the Famous French Képie, and the smart new dressy trousers in lightweight seersucker, four pleats front and back, with a useful "grenade" pocket for orders in front, this girl driver is ready to start her day's work at Army Headquarters in Regina.

Can Get Good Stock

Channel Island Farmers May Have To Import Dairy Cattle

The Channel Islands are famous for their dairy cattle, particularly Jerseys and Guernseys. That has been the breeding ground of pure-bred stock for centuries. Every pure Jersey and Guernsey outside the Channel Islands has an ancestry that can be traced back to there.

The inhabitants of the Channel Islands almost make pets of their cattle. When the Germans invaded the islands many of the small farmers shot the cows rather than let them fall into enemy hands. The Nazis carried away thousands so that their milk and butter might feed their own people.

Recently, a number of refugees from the island of Alderney met in London to consider what they can do to restore their herds. In a letter to the Times, Henry Gauvain, chairman of the Alderney relief organization stated that restoration of the original herds, if at all possible, is essential as they attain their full perfection in their native island alone. Future generations, he contends, should be exported therefrom if their peculiar characteristics are to be maintained and improved. There was no tuberculosis among the island herds and surgical tuberculosis of bovine origin does not exist unless contracted elsewhere.

The people of the Channel Islands will not relish the idea of importing stock from Britain, or from Canada and the United States, but if they discover that their herds have been so thinned that they need outside breeders, they will find that outside breeders will not only be glad to help them, but that the stock is absolutely pedigreed.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Australia Has Plans

Scheme Would Give The Commonwealth A Great Air Base

The commonwealth government is planning a post-war airline scheme to bring any place in Australia within 24 hours' travel of any other place. It has a plan to establish 22 centres linked by trunk services, each serving a 300-mile radius by air or surface transport.

Airdromes are available, the R.A.A.F. will provide the trained personnel and only 18 modern air liners will be required—no more than there are already in operation.

The plan in operation would revolutionize life in the remoter areas.—Australian News Letter.

Should Come First

British War Brides Deserve The Warmest Welcome From Canada

British war brides of Canadian soldiers have been arriving in Canada for the past year or two and many more will come.

No class of immigrant should be more welcome in this country than representatives of the gallant British people who endured and withstood the worst that a frenzied Nazi hate could send them in the height of German success.

It is all right to provide a haven in this country for refugees from Central Europe, persecuted by the Nazis, but our own kin and kin should come first. The wives of Canadian soldiers constitute a first lien on our hospitality.—Calgary Herald.

UNUSUAL OCCUPATION—Painting stage scenery for the Canadian Army Show is the unusual occupation of CWAC artist L-Cpl. Molly Lamb of Vancouver, B.C. Twenty-two years old, blonde and attractive, Molly made her mark in Canadian art circles when three of her paintings were hung in the Toronto Art Gallery, and two more won prizes in the Canadian Army Art Show held in Ottawa a few months ago. She is the daughter of Mrs. A. M. Williams of Galtino Island, B.C.

FURLOUGH FUN—

Mecca of the furloughed service girl is the beautiful lake centre recently opened at Banff, Alberta, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies. Already scores of Army girls stationed within travelling distance have visited the centre and pronounced it the "finest ever". Operated under the supervision of the Y.W.C.A., the centre offers a wide variety of holiday recreations. Riding stables, tennis courts, golf links and the famous sulphur springs are all within easy walking distance, while nearby are the clear and sparkling waters of Lake Louise and Lake Moraine. Approximately 70 service women a week have been vacationing at this new centre.

Corporal Brenda Campbell, with the C.W.A.C. Overseas, and wife of Capt. C. E. Campbell, of Edmonton, Alta., has known war experiences which make her the envy of all the CWAC's in her unit. Previous to her enlistment into the C.W.A.C. in 1942, Brenda was a member of the British Auxiliary Territorial Service. In her work as an anti-aircraft battery plotter, she was successful in bringing down two German planes. One of these, a Ju-88, she watched fall into the sea.

HOME AGAIN—Enlistment in the Canadian Women's Army Corps spelled a return home for Pte. Lucy McCarthy, of Winnipeg. In 1929, when Lucy was just six years old, her family moved into Fort Osborne Barracks, Winnipeg, where Lucy's father, then Sgt. Sylvester (Mac) McCarthy was serving with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry (Permanent). She lived in the garrison for 10 years before her father was honourably discharged from military service. Now she is back at Fort Osborne, this time as a resident of "Cwac-ville".

Saving In Space

Square Milk Bottles Are Used In Many United States Cities

After a year's trial, the innovation of square milk bottles in quarts and half-pints at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and other cities in the United States, has proved a success. Basis of the change from round milk bottles was the desire to conserve cold storage space and to increase truck loads. It was found that about 45 per cent. more milk could be stored and considerably more milk be carried in trucks by using new cases, more compact and lighter in make than the conventional type. These cases require about one-third less space inside the truck and save much work and time to the driver. Grocers and retailers say that they can put 36 square quarts on a refrigerator shelf that held only 25 round bottles.

Belgian Queen Mother Ignored German Instructions To Leave Palace

Belgian Queen Mother Elizabeth ignored German instructions to proceed to Germany when King Leopold was removed in June, and locked herself in her apartment in a wing of Laken Palace, the Exchange Telegraph reported, in a Brussels dispatch.

The Queen Mother was reported to have told the German commander over the telephone that if he wanted to take her to Germany he would have to drag her from the palace. All attempts at persuasion failed, and the Queen stayed in the palace.

"SALAD" TEA

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

AIDE TO CUPID

By MABEL G. SHELTON

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Granny, will you do me a favor?" Beth Thomas looked appealingly at her grandmother, her blue eyes anxious.

Granny Bevins snorted. "And when did I ever refuse you one? But remember, I've got to get to that candlelight service at the church by six. Is it something I can do before then?"

"Yes. It's—well, you see, Harvey Rudy is coming tonight, and I asked him for supper. If you'd just get things ready before you go . . . he says he's anxious to eat one of my meals, that he just knows I'm a wonderful cook—after living with you all these years."

Granny snorted again. "And you can't boil water without scorching the pan! Serves you right, missy. I've warned you about learning to cook."

"Oh, I will, Granny. Every girl learns when she gets engaged. But won't you help me out this time?"

Granny didn't like the sound of that "engaged", but she promised to cook the meal.

"You darling!" Beth kissed her wrinkled cheek. "Just leave everything ready for me to warm up at the last minute. I've got to run now."

Granny thought about Harvey Rudy while she peeled the potatoes. She never had liked the thought of Beth's marrying him. Not that she could put her finger on anything especially wrong with the boy, but he just wasn't good enough for her lovely, golden-haired Beth. Of course he was a taller in the First National, but that didn't mean he was a go-getter. Probably never would be anything higher than a teller.

"Expecting my girl to slave for him," she grumbled. And here she was working her fingers to the bone, helping Beth to snare him.

Then an idea came to her. She thought it over and decided it was pretty clever. "Wants to taste one of my meals, does he? Well, he'll never want to taste another one after this. And I won't be breaking my word, either. I said I'd cook supper."

and cook it. I will. I didn't say how I'd cook it."

It was a shame to do to perfectly good food what she did to that meal. The things that should have had sugar got salt, and vice versa. She put so much saleratus in the biscuits that they developed rusty spots when baked. She boiled the fresh green peas for a few minutes with baking soda. They came out a brilliant green, but hard as marbles. And she made the cream sauce lumpy.

But Granny was a thrifty soul and a good cook, and to spoil and waste like this hurt her conscience. "It's for the good of my girl," she kept telling herself. "She's not going to throw herself away if I can help it."

Finally the meal was ready. It looked delicious, but she knew how horrible everything would taste. "No man in his right mind would marry a girl who cooked like that," she quavered. That last bite of fruit salad flavored with salt instead of sugar had almost paralyzed her vocal chords.

She hurriedly changed her dress and set out for the church. The candlelight service had begun before she arrived.

"Here." Somebody thrust a candle and a slip of paper into her hands. "You'll be the last one. You just go to the front, read what's on this paper and light your candle from the big one."

Granny sank back in her seat with a sigh. Beth would just about now be warming up the vegetables. What a meal—dry, stringy pork, cake without any baking powder! Oh, it was a proper mess!

She dozed through the service. Then someone nudged her and said it was time to light her candle. She went to the front of the room in a daze and opened her paper.

The lights were dim and she strained her eyes to see. "It will be faithful," she read falteringly, "and kind, and true. And hold ever before me the precepts of Right. I will be true to my loving mercy and kindness—she broke off and glared at the congregation. "Cat's hind foot," she said loudly, "I can't read this thing. It wouldn't be right."

A murmur followed her as she stepped down the aisle. The ladies had grown used to Granny's eccentricities, but they still regretted them. She did not stop until she reached home, and all the way she kept repeating, "Faithful, true, kind deeds, loving mercy." There was no one to be seen at home, but the dining table was lit with that awful meal.

"Beth," she called, "are you here?"

Beth came flying down the stairs, her face glowing. "Oh, Granny, you've come. Harvey had to go, but—look!" She held up her left hand and Granny caught the glitter of a diamond. Her eyes fairly popped.

"We're engaged. And Harvey's been promoted to cashier. Isn't it thrilling?"

Granny tried twice before she could speak. "Did he like the supper?"

Beth looked worried. "No, not exactly. Granny, I must be the world's worst cook. I spoiled all that lovely food somehow. You must begin right away to teach me to cook."

"But Harvey asked you to marry him, anyway."

Beth giggled. "Yes, and he was real sweet about the supper. He admitted it wasn't very good. But he said if it had been too good he'd have thought you cooked it. Isn't that rich?"

Granny was busy raking food into the garbage pail. "Rich is no word for it," she muttered.

REQUIRES A WITNESS

Mark Twain said even the cleverest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to be at fault after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution. Take the case of any pencil sharpened by any woman; if you have witnesses, you will find she did it with a knife, but if you take simply the aspect of the pencil, you will say she did it with her teeth.

SCHOOL LUNCHES

Nutritious, Attractive, Noon Meal Necessary For The Younger Generation

By Laura C. Pepper, Chief, Consumer Section, Dominion Dept. of Agriculture
Satchel over shoulder and lunch pail in hand, sun-tanned and healthy after the long summer vacation, the younger generation has answered the call of the school bell.

Will Bill and Janie enjoy the same buoyant health next March that they have now, or will the roses fade from their cheeks and listlessness replace September's joyous vitality? Lift the lid of the lunch pail and look inside, for there lies a clue to the answer.

Educational and health authorities fully realize the importance of the school lunch. They know only too well that the kind of lunch which is eaten throughout the school year has a definite bearing on the marks on his report card, his attendance record and his capacity to learn.

The Nutrition Division, Ottawa, stresses the importance of including three types of food in every lunch box: milk, a fruit or vegetable and a building food like meat, eggs, cheese, fish or beans.

Easy to carry and popular with the children, sandwiches are generally the mainstay of the carried lunch and their filling may supply either the 'building' food or the vegetable 'must'.

It isn't difficult to keep sandwiches interesting, even as daily fare. Such simple devices as changing the shape, from squares to triangles or fingers, or combining a slice of white with a slice of brown bread in the same sandwich can be surprisingly effective. But sandwiches must be as well as look interesting and that depends on the filling . . . be sure to spread it generously.

Mothers will like these suggestions for fillings from the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture because they are quickly and easily prepared. The children will like them too, for they definitely appeal to the taste of the youngsters.

Sandwich Fillings

(Add salt, pepper and salad dressing to these fillings where needed for flavour or to moisten.)

Chopped egg—Chopped egg, chopped parsley, grated carrot. Minced left-over cooked meat—Add one or more of the following: grated onion, chopped celery or parsley, chick sauce, sweet or mustard pickles.

Cooked minced liver—Especially good with grated raw carrot or with chopped celery. Sometimes, add a little relish or chili sauce. Chili Cheese—Sliced plain or with 'thin slices of Spanish type onions. Pack a few carrot or celery sticks to eat with this sandwich.

Grated cheese—Good with marmalade or chopped mustard pickle. Cottage cheese—Ring the change with any one of the following: shredded lettuce, chopped parsley, onion, chick sauce, chopped pickle, jam, marmalade or jelly.

Sardines—Chopped parsley, pickles or chili sauce. Chopped raw vegetables—Use one kind or several. Add grated cheese and salad dressing.

Chopped cabbage—Good with grated raw carrot or turnip. Extra good when a few raisins are added.

Peanut butter—This favourite filling is appealing again. Lettuce and marmalade are both good additions. Baked beans—Mash and maybe add a little ketchup.

Bologna Sandwich Filling— $\frac{1}{4}$ lb bologna or wieners, 2 tablespoons chopped pickles, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon vinegar from pickles, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup mayonnaise, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon minced onion, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon spicy mustard sauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup ground raw carrot, 2 tablespoons chopped celery. Grind bologna; add other ingredients and mix well. Makes $\frac{1}{4}$ cups filling.

Eerie Type Of Warfare

Selne Area Was Very Quiet After Fighting In Normandy

The comparatively quiet push across the Selne was an eerie type of warfare after the days in Normandy when the guns were going all the time and week after week you drove the same roads, saw the same places and got to know by sight practically all the civilians in the district.

If you got off the main roads in the Selne area you could sometimes drive a mile or two hardly seeing any sign of life. The jeep motor and the friction of its tires on the asphalt road were often the only sounds.

Dozens of roads criss-crossed the Canadian area winding through silent forests and though all the useful ones had been checked for mines and the friction of its tires on the asphalt road were often the only sounds.

Sometimes on these roads, a dispatch rider taking a short cut or a lone jeep would be shot at by a German straggler hiding. Even a few German tank crews were cut off in these out-of-the-way places.

On other deserted lanes concealed by woods you found the wreckage of German vehicles sought out in their shaded hiding places and surreptitious routes to the Seine by Typhoon pilots who must have been hawk-eyed to find them.

Medical Services For People Of British Colonies Are Assured

Behind the Allied armies in the Pacific islands come the British doctors. They begin at once to take up again the threads of the medical services, broken at the time of the Japanese occupation. Even in wartime, Britain puts a high priority on medical services for the peoples of the British Colonial dependencies.

In the war against tropical disease much of the pioneer research was done by British scientists; and research still continues unrelentingly. The results are being applied increasingly to the improvement of the health of the Colonial peoples. As they are won over from prejudice or superstition to confidence in the technique of Western medicine, the supply of medical staff becomes of major importance. Personnel is increasingly recruited from among the Colonial people themselves, to work in co-operation with British medical experts. The outstanding problem is the provision of the necessary vocational training.

The Central Medical School in Suva, Fiji provides training for students from all the British territories in the Southwest Pacific. There is also a central Nursing School at Suva open to native student nurses from all the islands.

The Ceylon Medical College is already training Ceylonese students to that of doctors in Great Britain. Graduates of the Singapore Medical College and the University of Hong Kong were qualified to practice anywhere in the British Empire as their degrees were recognized by the British General Medical Council. There are central medical schools serving British West and East Africa; they are not yet able to train to the standard of fully qualified doctors, but that is the ultimate goal.

Dream Is Shattered

Only Last Year Hitler Planned To Make Germany Invincible

Fully a year ago Adolf Hitler laid his plans to make every German city a Stalingrad, according to a German correspondent considered one of the best informed of those who remained behind when the Allies took Rome.

Last summer, he said, Hitler called all the most important Gauleiters of Europe to his headquarters and told them that Germany would not be able indefinitely to hold off immensely superior forces that were being massed against her and it was inevitable that in time her armies would be driven back to home territory. However, that need not mean defeat, he continued, if plans were laid and every German did his duty.

Every German city, one by one, must be defended as Stalingrad was, he said. If that were done, it would give Germany such moral strength, such pride in her heroism and such a great place in history that for 100 years no foreign power would dare to treat her as anything but equal. The youth of Germany would be so inspired and the United Nations would pay so high a price for conquest that the rebirth of Nazism and "Greater Germany" would be facilitated.—New York Times.

MAKING FOOTWEAR

Cyprus is to make all its own socks and stockings. They will be made in two grades. Monthly production of the cheaper quality is already 10,000 pairs and is expected to rise to 15,000 pairs.

Caves and subterranean dwellings provide homes for more than 100,000 persons throughout northern Africa.

Necessary As Food

Potatoes Contain Supply Of Vitamins C And Also Iron

According to the Nutrition Division, Ottawa, one medium baked potato has no more calories than a really large orange. This should be good news for people who worry about extra pounds.

Canada's Food Rules state that one serving of potatoes is a daily "must." About one-third of Canada's supply of Vitamin C comes from potatoes which are also a good source of iron.

Potatoes are at their best now when they are newly harvested and still contain their full quota of minerals and vitamins. Later, as a result of storage, some of these elements will be lost.

Leaving the jackets on potatoes when boiling or steaming saves both time and food value. The potatoes may be peeled just before serving but many families prefer to eat them skins and all. This is all to the good and is heartily endorsed by nutritionists.

Three-Year Period

Allied Officials Taking Posts In Germany Have To Remain

Officials being considered for posts in the British section of the Allied commission to administer Germany after the war are being informed they must agree to stay at least three years.

Under the plan Berlin would be the seat of the commission, representing Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union. Each country would have a controlling sphere—the Russians the eastern sector, Britain the northwest and the United States the southwest.

The Nazi gauleiters—local dictators will go, and the Allies are expected to maintain close supervision over schools. It is possible that British teachers may be installed in some institutions.
